India Pays Tribute to Canada's Promoted Warriors

COMMISSIONER AND MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER (FAKIR SINGH AND DUTIN) AT THE "EMRESS" MONUMENT IN THE MOUNT PLEASANT CEMETERY, TORONTO. WITH THEM ARE COMMISSIONER AND MRS. RICHARDS, COLONEL McMILLAN, AND BRIGADIER MELLING (DELERI SINGH).

"I'M SORRY I WAS WRONG!"

(Chicago "Evening Post")
There may be virtue in the man
Who's always sure he's right,
Who's always ready to implement
And seek for further light;
But I like more the chap who sings
A somewhat different song,
What says when he has messed up things:

"I'm sorry; I was wrong!"
It's hard for any one to say
That failure's due to him.
He's had his night, burned dim,
Because his light, burned dim.
It takes a man aside to show
The vanity that's strong,
Confessing, "That's my fault, I know;"

"I'm sorry; I was wrong!"
And so I figure, those who use
This honest, manly phrase,
Hate it too much their way to lose
On the future days.
They'll keep the path and make the right.
Because they do not long
To have to say when they're not right.
"I'm sorry; I was wrong!"

HOW TO BE SAVED

Firmly face the fact of your sin.
It gets worse, and unless something happens to stop it, your soul will stand before your Maker at last with only foul horrors as its record.
Cast yourself upon God's mercy, confessing all you do against His name; plead for pardon in the name of Jesus, who has said you shall ask what you will, and it shall be given you.

THE SEARCHLIGHT

Whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for My sake shall have it. (Gospels, the same shall save it.)

For what shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

It is not only the birds that seem to have this custom. If you are travelling across the prairies in America, and are up at the very early hour, you will see the prairie dogs come out of their holes, turn towards the rising sun, and

THE Salvation Army is essentially a fighting force. Its very name indicates attack. Its disposition to invade new territory—to make conquests, to dethrone existing empires, to bring about a general movement for the promotion of happiness and peace to all, is well known.

The Salvation Army has always recognized the importance and magnitude of the enemy. The foe is a force of evil. Once it was believed that the chief assistance of "your adversaries" and has again and again tried to break through The Army's lines and cause defeat. Yet in spite of the bitterest opposition, it has advanced on the enemy's ground and taken many prisoners. "Over the parapet" to "No Man's Land" is no empty phrase in The Salvation Army.

Christian Life & Warfare

It is significant that the Old Testament, though it was a blood-and-war book, and that in the New Testament the imagery of warfare has great prominence. It is well that it is so, Christian life is warfare. The forces of earth and hell are arrayed against us, and we must never confront a wrong without a battle; resulting, hence, following Christ keeps men on the battlefield and in the trenches all the time.

The Salvation Army must maintain its aggressive character. Modes and methods may differ. The great

Indian Birds and Lessons They Teach

By COMMISSIONER BOOTH-TUCKER

INDIA is the land of birds, though the Indian birds do more talking than singing. I often wonder we could get some of the European song birds into the country—a few robins, blackbirds, thrushes, nightingales. Meanwhile, I often try to make out what the birds in our garden are saying. They don't talk English very well; some of them are rather silent, only talking by their actions, which, we are told, speak louder than words.

The Prayer Bird

The "Prayer" Bird—this bird's duty seems to be to call us to morning prayers. Have you ever noticed that all the birds begin to sing when the first rays of light appear for food, join each other in the early morning in what one can only call a chorus of prayer and praise? If you listen, at early day-break, you will hear them all join in. If you have never done it before, begin to listen to them in the early morning.

Are We Watchful?

Do we watch-over another's soul? Are we watchful? Are we watchful over the alarm? Do we call in the heavenly powers to our assistance? Are we watchful enough over our own souls? How stealthily are the approaches of the enemy of souls! When we are on the ground we cannot see him; it is only as we look out for his hereditary enemy, and it will not rest till the enemy has been driven off—not by itself, but by some stronger power which has called to its assistance.

The "Faith" Bird—I might almost say he is my favourite, and yet he is not nearly so pretty as some of the others. As for voice, I rarely hear him speak. He is too busy to sing. He is the horned owl of the forest. He can constantly be heard clinging the crevices of the bark as he climbs our huge cedars in quest of insects. He is a human horned woodpecker. How he clings to the trees with his claws! He doesn't care to walk anywhere; he goes down, and upwards, and sideways, as he trusts. Buried in the bark are thousands of insects, the countless promises of God behind the Bible.

Our Great Sport

Cannot we learn from him? The huge tree is his support. He simply clings to it, and that is enough. And here, alongside us, in our particular post, stands Jesus Christ, like the huge cedar, only so much greater, and much more watchful. Let us cling to Him, and in doing so reflect on His load, so to say, with food for our souls. His commandments are our safeguard, His promises are our eternal and satisfying food. Shall we freshly begin to live by faith? If we do we shall find Him more than enough for all our needs.

Wasn't that the lesson which Christ taught when Lazarus His Disciples' feet? Sometimes, when there is a disagreeable task in hand, pride was the scars upon his body and the notches upon his sword, the scars on The Army are its insignia of honour gained in honourable conflict.

Then, too, The Salvation Army is unique in that every member in its ranks is expected to be a soldier. In the golden days of Greece, the most virulent opposition from the Government, the public, the press, and the police. He was arrested and thrown into prison as a political犯. The year later he was regarded as the Kaiser, the equivalent of the English Order of Merit, for his valuable services within the Indian Empire, a distinction most highly held by Anglo-Indians and given to very few.

Commissioner Booth-Tucker spoke to me for a few minutes before the interview. It was a short interview, but word to word he was followed by a torrent of reminiscence, incidents, and especially an enthusiastic eulogy on the political system of India under British rule. This, he said, was one of the miracles of his life, he had associated with India, he said, his childhood, and my father and grandfather before me.<sup>6</sup> His grandfather was one of the founders of the old East India Company. His grandfather sailed from Bermuda, the island of Trinity was established by him, and he founded a frigate named after it. This seemed strange to Commissioner Booth-Tucker, he also, after all these years, seemed a rajah conscripting his subjects and arming them for war.

Next morning the king led his army upon the plains, whereupon the army was drawn up in a long and, possibly, unbroken line to his soldiers. "There you have the walls of Sparta, and every man a brick." The king, however, cannot have looked carefully. Come with me tomorrow, and I will show you the walls of Sparta.

we look at each other and say, "What shall we do?" How helpful, then, is the "let-me-do-it" spirit.

There is another little bird which is very bold and sympathetic. "Be quick! be quick!" It seems to be ever reminding us that time is short, souls are running down to hell; that I have not moment to lose! If I am tempted to slacken my pace, to ease off, it seems to rouse me once more, and reminds me of Colonel Westcott's favourite motto: "God march!"

In the way of the world we much depend on speed. They need speed for fast destroyers, aeroplanes, fast cruisers, aeroplanes, which are like shooting stars, bullets with unthinkable velocity. We live in an age of speed. And have we not, all others, the most reason to put on speed? Can we afford to slacken our pace? There are multitudes of living around us?

distinguished service in connection with the great fight for Hill 70.

In a letter to Territorial Headquarters, our comrade says:

"As a true Christian and child of God, I strive to do my duty every day. There are many opportunities for doing good. The man who lives a Christian life among the men must have a good influence even though he says nothing. My experiences of the past few months are worse now to me than the world. I have sought the help of my Heavenly Father under very many varied circumstances and under the most trying conditions, but He has never failed me."

Prayer in Strange Places

"In dug-outs, shell holes, funk holes, billets, and when stuck in mud up to the neck, I have always said my prayers. I am in His care, and whenever happens to me will be in His will concerning me. I have no fear—His peace passeth all understanding. I am living beneath His great Providence."

"You will hear all about the great battle of Hill 70. I was all through this, and was wonderfully preserved, coming out without a scratch. For my work in this battle I have been awarded the Military Cross. Many of my best comrades went home, and they died like heroes and Christians. I pray that God will comfort and sustain their loved ones."

"While in England I saw Clayton Dwyer. He was wounded slightly after being in France only three months. I spent three days of my leave with Adjutant Penfold at Bramshot."

SALVATIONIST SKY PILOT

HOW A ROYAL FLYING CORPS MECHANIC DID BUSINESS FOR GOD

"NOW is the time to prove the Salvationism of which you were so proud over in Old England," said a Royal Flying Corps mechanic to himself a few days after his arrival in France. "Come on, Fred, hoy; stir yourself," he continued; "there are men going up to death, going up every day; it's up to you to show you mean business, and to do it at once!"

When a Salvationist talks to himself in that way something is bound to happen. To be sure, he had spoken to one here and there, and his life lived before the men really caught him, but he knew that was not doing only part of the duty which lay before him, so he set about widening his sphere, as every good Salvationist should do, and to this end he got the cornet.

Cornet? Well, yes, it was, after platform, with candles standing on the wheel-tires, and along the edge at the side. The men trooped in, and song books were out; here and there a dusky soldier held a light in one hand and the book in another, while the men crowded round to sing.

Sing? They threatened to burst their throats with the unrestrained volume of their song. See that massive Harladian black with the candle? A sergeant, and, like many more, saved through these meetings. His roar out the bass tones like the pipe of an organ. This is what we want, the mechanic Salvationist said when the West Indians moved to a distant camp:

"I must say: Stick to the Man which is stronger than you. God in your taught and you shall be able to refrain from all your sins. Why, Cornet? Well, yes, it was, after all, a cornet. True, it had been impressed in very weak spots, by soap bubbles, and had to carry on, even so. Later on he got some bits of tin soldered on the shiny parts, and a piece of copper tubing was added to receive the mouthpiece shank.

"How those men did sing! They threatened to burst their throats with the unrestrained volume of the song!"

First-aid for Cornet
Because this did not make a good first-aid, the tubing was attached, and a judicious use of adhesive surgical dressing covered the attempts at first-aid treatment to a poor old veteran of many battles. But with this instrument the ex-Islington Bandsman contrived to attract the men—sinners—to his German gunner:

"I need I am trying day and night to keep up the spirit of the band. I want you no father, carer, but I ask the Almighty God to be a Father to me. I always remember to think of what you tell me almighty. I hope I won't get it at all."

Again he wrote:

A Quaint Epistle

"Thank God for His love to me. I ask Him day and night to be a father and mother to me. I hope He will. From the day I and you did speak in it made hold on more to God. My brother give his love to you, all so my friend. Let me know you are. If I rich home before you, I will right you. God be with you."

As for that cornet, it is now done; old age and corrosion have taken fatal toll at last, and the veteran refuses to make music any more.

In one corner stood a quaint old wagon, and this was fixed up as

SPEECH RESTORED

To a Wounded Soldier Through Sudden Shock

The COMMANDER AT ROME
MORE OFFICERS FOR WAR WORK AT FRONT

While visiting a hospital in London Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel Martin was greeted with a joyous "Hallelujah" by a wounded soldier.

He turned out to be a Salvationist, of course; Young People's League Morgan, from the Land of 'Wattie,' and he had a special song for praising God. For some weeks after entering the hospital he had not been able either to speak or write, but he could do so in whispers directly about the words on churches, a pitiful figure.

One day, however, the rubber tube of one of the crutches slipped off the polished floor, and down went the poor man with a crash. "Ow!"

It was his first word since leaving the trenches. The next was a loud "Hallelujah!" For though not only restored his speech, power to his limbs, so that cracks were no longer needed.

"And he began shouting 'Hallelujah' ever since," declared his mate. The Sergeant, who had almost enough to return to his unit in Australia. Praise the Lord!

Our Responsibility

THIS first point to be disposed of is whether "Anxious" can have any choice with regard to his studies. If he can then he may, we think, be regarded as responsible for making such a selection, even at the cost of losing worldly advantages, as will result from harmful influences.

If he has no control of matters in this respect, then, we think, he may with assurance trust God to keep his mind in such a condition that the evil suggested to him will be avoided.

God has promised victory over every temptation, but it is clearly the duty of every one to, as far as is able, avoid going into circumstances, or doing those things which bring the spirit into bondage.

But this being clear, "Anxious" may be sure this inevitable blessing is as much for him as for the most experienced of God's Soldiers.

Other Questions

IN reply to other questions raised by our correspondent, which are also of general interest, we find:

- (1) Sanctification is the act of making holy; (2) A sanctified person does not sin in the sense that sin is a wilful transgression of the Law of God; but Sanctification, as we believe it is taught by the Bible, does not mean the absence of a constant effort to do right; (3) We are bound to "Anxious" and all others after Full Salvation, a pamphlet written by The Army's Founder, "Holy Living," which can be obtained through any Salvation Army Officer, or direct from the Trade Department in Toronto or Winnipeg.

The Green White Plague

AST year, in Ontario alone, 2,550 persons were liable to tuberculosis, seven for every day of the year.

In view of this startling fact there can be no question as to the necessity of drastic measures possible being taken to prevent a spread of so dire a destroyer-disease.

The National Tuberculosis Association, in connection with the annual Tuberculosis Sunday (Nov. 1), has issued a set of instructions which advise how visitors can contribute to the cause by getting a hold upon the body at once. These same indicate that if prevention is so simple a matter that if only people could be persuaded to observe a few carefully rules, it would be stamped out.

How We Can Help

SALVATION ARMY Officers, in their goings in and out of the homes of the people, and Salvationists generally, by example and precept, in their own neighbourhoods, are in a great deal of help to others.

The following are some of the Association's instructions under the heading of "How Tuberculosis May Be Prevented":—

"Teach people to sleep well, rise early, work in dark or such ventilation as possible."

"By teaching the consumption how not to affect his family or neighbours."

"By giving the disease no chance to spread among the patients, thus reducing the risk of infection to others."

"By educating the public to the nature of the disease, so that it may be preventable and curable."

"By educating the public to keep their bodies in such physical condition as to enable them to resist the germ."

"By advertising new out-door life, fresh vegetables, rest, no overwork, wholesome

WAR CRY

Printed for The Salvation Army in Canada, New Brunswick, Bermuda, and Alaska, by The Salvation Army Printing House, 16 Albert Street, Toronto.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Visitors from India

THE presence of Commissioner and Mrs. Booth-Tucker in Canada, though their's has been only a fleeting passing through on the way back to the great Missionary Field of which the Commissioner is in command, has been assured, been of very great profit.

For one thing, its great population, its complex life, its difficulties and opportunities, its vast opportunities for soul-winning, as well as the need for the branching of Social Work, will be of great value, not only to the Salvationists, but to the public mind, as a result of the illuminating information the Commissioner has been able to convey. The statesmanlike grasp of the situation which he has shown in his many visits to the various cities will have its value when the next "Great Effort" comes round, for it will have been evident to all thinking people that work which has behind it the confidence and prestige of the character-revered Army, will have the confidence and support of all who have sympathies similar and suffering humanity is able to make any claim.

The "Victory" Loan

WE are pleased to draw attention to the excellent opportunity to the citizens of the Dominion to loan to the Victory Loan.

Three kinds of Bonds are offered, due for full repayment in 5, 10, and 20 years, respectively, and they may be obtained in denominations as low as $5.

The Bonds offer special facilities to those who have large amounts of capital available, plans being in existence whereby purchases can be arranged by the payment of only a small first deposit as $5, to be followed by a sum of $1.

Interest which is received figures at the rate of five and a half per cent per annum, will commence from Dec. 1, 1917, and will be paid half-yearly.

The Bonds can be purchased at the full extent of each country to pay a deposit and keep up payments will be the most satisfactory way of helping, as then the smallest contribution is immediately available for the country's war and victory purposes set forth by the subscriber.

Felt particulars may be obtained from any bank or "Victory" Loan Committee.

Harmful Inquiries

FROM "Anxious" we have received a letter of inquiry concerning Holiness, in which he asks:

"Much of my time is spent with my chums at school, where there is a lack of religious atmosphere and discipline, so that I am not able to do anything but pray. Some of my chums are very bad, 'Hairy Friends' and 'Worshipers,' and are not evidence to perfect love, but I have no evidence in my heart."

"Would I remain satisfied among these surroundings? Is Holiness for me or only for older and more experienced Soldiers?"

Grace Hospital Nurses Graduate

NOTWORTHY Function Presided Over by the Lieut.-Governor of Manitoba—Certificates Presented by Lady Aikins—Mayor of Winnipeg and Prominent Officials Present.

AFUNCTION of a most pleasant and noteworthy character took place at the Grace Hospital (Winnipeg), on the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 14th.

The occasion was the Graduation and the Presentation of Certificates

avoidably absent. Each of the speakers congratulated the Grads on the successful issue of their examinations and referred to hours of hard work and study such as were involved in preparing them for the examination they had undertaken.

The addresses were interspersed by a vocal solo sung by Miss McLean, and a vocal selection rendered by the Territorial Headquarters Male Quartette.

Dr. Charles Sugden (the Medical Superintendent) addressed the Grads to commiserate their meeting career with God. Who is the only Source of real strength?

"We cannot speak too highly of our Medical Staff," said Major Page, "and I wish to thank them publicly for their hard work in connection with the influenza epidemic which was also made of the faithful and diligent work of the Assistant Medical Officer.

SONGS OF SALVATION

HIS BOUNDLESS LOVE

Tunes—Take Salvation 170; Blessed Lord, 163.

Boundless as the mighty ocean,
Rolling on from pole to pole,
Is the boundless love of Jesus
To the weary, sinful soul—

Boundless mercy,
Making guilty sinners whole.

Boundless as the starry heavens,
Filled with fiery orbs of light,

Are the promises of Jesus
For the soul in nature's night:

Ever shining,
Till our faith is changed to sight.

Boundless as eternal ages,
As the air we breathe as free,

Is the boundless full salvation
Jesus purchased on the tree—

Boundless cleansing
From all sin's impurity.

HE WAS FOUND WORTHY

Tunes—He was found worthy, Sal. Music, Vol. 2, 36; B.J., 106.

When none was found to ransom
He was found worthy! [me,
To set a world of sinners free,
He was found worthy!

Chorus

O, the bleeding Lamb!
He was found worthy!

To take the book and loose the seal,
To bruise the head that bruised
His heel.

To open wide the gates of Heaven;
To Him all majesty is given.

His Blood has washed me white as snow,
And all His fulness I shall know.

SAVED BY THE BLOOD!

Tune—Jesus is mine, B.J., 34.
Saved through the precious Blood,
I am a child of God,
From every stain made clean;

Set free from sin.

Chorus

Jesus is mine for ever,
In joy or pain, in loss or gain!
Nought from His love shall sever
This Blood-bought soul of mine.

A witness I will be
For Him who died for me;
With this my only aim,
To spread His fame.

My life shall spread around
The Saviour I have found;
His power all shall know
Where'er I go!

I'M GLAD I'M IN THE ARMY!

I will not be discouraged,
For Jesus is my Friend;
He'll lead me safe to Glory,
And keep me to the end.

Chorus

O, I'm glad I'm in this Army,
And I'll battle for the Lord;
He will give me grace to conquer,
And keep me to the end.

And when the battle's over,
Before Him we shall stand;
We shall sing His praise for ever
In that holy, happy land!

Then with the blast in Glory,
All robed in dazzling white,
We will sing the wondrous story,
And march in Jesus' sight!
